Emotional Healing and Transformation – Disclaimer

The emotional healing and transformation work that Dr. Victoria Moore does is not psychotherapy. This work supports and provides powerful personal development for a fundamentally whole and healthy person who is not mentally ill and not psychotic. (Neurotic is okay.)

In a session, you may revisit painful or traumatic events from your past in order to help the body and brain resolve the trauma. You need to be able to tolerate some degree of emotional pain or stress in order to heal and transform. You are responsible for your own health and safety.

This work is aimed at helping you change habits of thinking and feeling in order to produce different results in your life. It is quite an active and co-creative process, so you are responsible for your own results.

By signing below, you certify that you understand and agree with this Disclaimer.
